

It Ain't You, Sir (revised) Bob Dylan and Ron Greene Dec 2019, Jul 2023

4/4 p1 capo -2

Stay out of our government,
We've had it with your lies.
You're not the one we want, sir;
That should come as no surprise.

We're happy with a president
We trust to keep us strong;
Who takes responsibility,
And who's not so often wrong.
Someone the world can respect ...
But that ain't you, sir.
No, no, no, it ain't you, sir;
It ain't you we're looking for, sir.

As the leader of our country,
You're the worst we've ever known.
We don't want you back again;
Just leave us all alone.

We're looking for a person –
One we don't detest;
Someone who will work for us;
Someone who'll do their best.
Someone with humanity and more ...
But that ain't you, sir.
No, no, no, it ain't you, sir;
It ain't you we're looking for, sir.

Stay away from the White House
Crawl back into your hole.
You're not the one we want, sir;
You've got a dirty soul.

You're an total narcissist
With an ego that never ends,
And a sordid individual
With a bunch of scummy friends.
A frequent liar and a thug ...
You're that and more, sir, so
No, no, no, it ain't you, sir;
It ain't you we're looking for, sir. x2
