

It Ain't You, Sir

Bob Dylan and Ron Greene

December 2019

4/4 p1 capo -2

Get out of our government,
As fast as you can go.
You're not the one we want, sir:
We reject your quid pro quo.

We're searching for a president
We trust to keep us strong;
Who takes responsibility,
And who's not so often wrong.
Someone the world can respect ...
But that ain't you, sir.
No, no, no, it ain't you, sir;
It ain't you we're looking for, sir.

Depart into the night, sir;
Take your heart that's made of stone.
We'd rather not put up with you;
Just leave us all alone.

We're looking for a leader, who'll
Clear up all your mess.
Someone who will work for us
Someone who'll do their best.
Someone with humanity and more ...
But that ain't you, sir.
No, no, no, it ain't you, sir;
It ain't you we're looking for, sir.

Go quickly from the White House
Crawl back into your hole.
You're not the one we want, sir;
You've got a dirty soul.

We don't want another narcissist
With an ego that never ends,
Or another corrupt individual
Who takes care of all his friends.
A frequent liar and a thug ...
You're that and more, sir, so
No, no, no, it ain't you, sir;
It ain't you we're looking for, sir. x2
