

The Climate, It Is a-Changing

Come gather round people, each and every one.
The earth is endangered; we're under the gun.
If we don't change our ways, its course may be run.
If your planet to you is worth saving,
Then you better start working, else it all will be done,
For the climate, it is a-changing.

Come artists and poets, women and men:
Spread the word to your fellows,
the chance won't come again.

Your talents can help us get out of our spin.
We must focus our skills and our efforts.
If we lose this fight now, we may never win,
For the climate, it is a-changing.

Come senators and congressmen, get off your ass.
Quit your petty disagreements;
start showing some class.

You must stop emitting so much hot air and gas.
Since the planet belongs to us all,
There are critical laws that soon you must pass,
For the climate, it is a-changing.

Come citizens and voters all over the land.
Awake to the danger; please understand:
Myopic lawmakers you must command.
Our one world is rapidly crashing.
We must all work together to give it a hand,
For the climate, it is a-changing.

The line it is drawn, the curse it is cast.
If we're too slow now, we never will last.
The job that's before us is one that is vast.
The future is currently forming;
Civilization could become a thing of the past,
For the climate, it is a-changing.
