I had to replace my license. C G
Needing a new photograph, G C
I stood there smiling foolishly F C
For the sullen member of the staff. G C
Processing done, he slapped his head, F C
And these are the words he said: D⁷ G

chorus: "Yikes, that's an awful photo C G
Makes you look criminally insane G C
Haggard, cadaverous, ancient, and creepy F C
Gee it must cause you pain." G C C

On the way home i was stopped C G
At a routine traffic check site. G C
The trooper took a look at my card, F C
And then he began to write. G C
That he gave me a ticket i thought absurd F C
'Cause this was all i heard: D⁷ G

[chorus]

When i got home i was greeted C G
By my wife in a filmy negligee. G C
But i was still angry and showed her the photo, F C
Describing the gist of my day. G C
She looked and spoke, "No fun for you" F C
And gave me her review: D⁷ G

[chorus]

At the courthouse to serve on a jury; C G
To enter, of course i had to show G C
My official ID to the deputy, F C
Who immediately cried "Oh no!" G C
He sent me to jail, but the judge let me out F C
Her ruling left no doubt: D⁷ G

[chorus]

Several months then passed by; C G
I had to fly off to a meeting. G C
Airport security studied my ID F C
And told me to remove everything. G C
They searched me high and searched me low; F C
For spite they let me know D⁷ G

[chorus]

"But on the other hand, F F
It's a good likeness." G C C_{note}
